

I would like to take this opportunity to update you on the practice's position following recent announcements with respect to the Coronavirus.

Andrew House is open for both routine and emergency treatments.

All our staff are currently fit and well and are doing everything they can to look after you and themselves.

We are strictly adhering to all the government recommendations to ensure that we have a safe and hygienic environment in which to practice and will continue to keep updated with any changes to these.

We are asking all patients to use sanitizer as they arrive and we are arranging appointments to avoid more than a few patients at a time in the reception area. If you would prefer to wait in the hallway separately from others, this is available as is the garden, weather permitting. There are handwashing facilities available throughout the practice and all iPads and payment machines are cleaned regularly and thoroughly.

As a healthcare provider we adhere to the strictest of regimes with respect to infection control. I have introduced further measures in the light of recent advice and would like to reassure all patients that we are putting their welfare at the forefront of our actions.

If you have any questions regarding your visit to the practice or are unsure of what to do please call the practice and we will do our best to help.

Yours Sincerely

Iram Sheikh
